

Find and tie the perfect sling

What you should pay attention to when choosing your sling:

- The sling should feel nice and soft.
- The fabric should stretch diagonally, but be horizontally and vertically stable to cover and support your child's back.
- The material should be non-tearable.
- The fibers should be colorfast.
- The sling should be easily machine washable.
- The selvages at the edge of the sling should have a double lining.
- The sling should be the right size.

Didy tip Make a note at home of the size you need using our online sizing guide:

- All the raw materials should have been cultivated under controlled organic conditions.
- No additives should be used with the raw materials in the manufacturing processes.
- The sling should have a neutral, non-chemical smell.
- Detailed information should be available on the manufacturing process and materials used.
- The sling should be fairly produced.

The more items you can check off the list, the better. We hope you find the perfect sling and thoroughly enjoy using it!
